

ABSTRACT

A container manufacturing apparatus for manufacturing a container body made of a thermoplastic material having a liquid storage portion for containing chemical liquid therein and an instilling hole for controlling a drop amount of discharged chemical liquid to be a predetermined amount, comprising a piercing unit X for piercing the container body to form the instilling hole therein, wherein the piercing unit X includes a needle-like portion 10 for forming the instilling hole, and a PTC heater 11 for heating the needle-like portion 10.